

NO DECISION IN CROSSING CASE

But Nobody Made Objections to Having the Order Rescinded and the State's $125,000 Released.

Decision was reserved by the Public Service Commission Tuesday after the hearing to show cause why the state's $125,000, set aside for the Broadway grade crossing elimination, should not be released and the Broadway crossing order rescinded.

There was no appearance on the part of the city.

Amos Van Bitten, attorney for the New York Central, said the company was not willing to go on record as favoring withdrawal of the state's money assigned to the Kingston work. He did not interpose any objection to whatever decision the commission might reach as to rescinding the Kingston order and transferring the state's money to other localities where grade crossing improvements are needed.

FOREIGN DEBT A DEEP PROBLEM

Washington, Oct. 11.—Complete readjustment of the $11,000,000,000 Allied debt cannot be worked out as long as the United States continues to hold one-half of the world's available gold supply. Representative Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, member of the American debt-funding commission told International News Service today.

Burton said it was to be anticipated that part of the enormous gold reserve held by this country would be gradually returned to Europe as private banking interests arranged for the floating of international loans from time to time and payments in gold were made for European goods imported into the United States, as well as for European securities purchased by American investors.

Senator McKinley of Illinois, a member like Burton, of the American congressional delegation to the recent inter-parliamentary union conference at Vienna, pointed out that the total value of the world's available gold supply was approximately $7,000,000,000, or $4,000,000,000 less than the aggregate amount of the Allied debt.

The debt problem is not one of cancellation but of collection, McKinley stated, and the way to solve it is not by the United States hanging on to half the gold in the world. Neither could the debt be liquidated with European goods. To flood this country with such goods would mean the closing of American factories and a paralysis of American industry. There must be a gradual repatriation of gold reserves and a decided stoppage of the printing press currency of certain European nations if international bankruptcy were to be avoided.

The plain intimation was conveyed by other Republican senators closely associated with the administration, that congress after it reconvenes for the session starting in December would probably be asked to authorize:

—Greater elasticity for the American debt-funding law which would permit an extension of payments beyond the 25-year period now established by it.

—American representation on the reparations commission in connection with the entire world war debt situation as well as the American agreement for the receipt of reparations due to the United States from Germany's bill for the maintenance of American troops on the Rhine.

The arrival of the British debt commission, headed by Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, to confer with the American debt-funding commission next month, is expected to give impetus to the current sentiment in favor of the calling of an international economic and financial conference by President Harding which is running strongly both in and out of congress.

Powerful influences will be brought to bear to induce the Republican majority in congress to help the administration pave the way for the establishment of a new and permanent foreign policy which will permit the United States to aid in the economic and financial rehabilitation of Europe so strongly desired by American business and commercial interests without letting the American people into those "entanglements" to which several of the most influential administration senators still liken the League of Nations.

Jumped From Express Train.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Jumping from the Empire State Express, traveling 50 miles an hour near Havana, a small town east of this city, Mrs. Bernhes, 62 years old, of 2472 Eighth avenue, New York, was almost instantly killed early last evening. She was on her way from New York to Toronto in the company of Mrs. Ella Daugherty of New York. Mrs. Bernhes was sitting with her companion when she suddenly jumped up rushed to the door and leaped off the train. The body was sent back to New York.

Rockefeller to Aid Germany?

Berlin, Oct. 11.—An unconfirmed report was circulated here today that a representative of the Rockefeller interests was in Berlin conferring with the German government regarding a loan for the purpose of stabilizing the value of the mark.

BRITISH ELECTION BEFORE XMAS

London, Oct. 11.—There will be a general election in Great Britain before Christmas, declared the Chronicle today. The Chronicle is the official mouthpiece of Premier Lloyd George and its statements are regarded as virtually official.

It is possible, according to the Chronicle, that the premier may resign before parliament convenes later this month. In this event, Austen Chamberlain, government spokesman in the house of commons, would become acting premier and would advise King George to dissolve parliament at once and call a general election.

The coalition government is wavering under the blows from all quarters. Both extremes—labor and Tories—are attacking Lloyd George. There are no specific charges made, but the critics complain that the country is "dissatisfied."

In non-political circles, chiefly business quarters, it is expected that the premier in his Manchester speech Saturday, will make it plain that he will remain in the saddle until after parliament has met and has had a chance to pass upon his attitude towards Turkey and Greece.

The labor party is exerting itself to make all possible political capital out of the present crisis. It is planning to use the Near East war scare as a lever with which to acquire more votes and greater representation in parliament in the forthcoming general election.

HAD A COLD AND TOOK SOME RUM

John Schaffer, However, Took a Larger Dose of "Medicine" Than He Intended—Other Cases in Police Court Before Judge Schirch.

Monday evening John Schaffer, who said he is employed at one of the local hotels, was picked up helplessly drunk and on Tuesday he was still too drunk to be arraigned before Judge Schirch in police court.

This morning John was sober, and when arraigned pleaded guilty.

"What was the trouble John?" asked Judge Schirch.

"Well you see," said John, "I had a little cold, wanted to get rid of it, and drank some rum."

"Pay a fine of $10," replied the court.

"Yes sir," replied John and slapped the amount of the fine in one dollar bills on the desk. John evidently had an idea of the amount of the fine and held it ready in his hand all the time he stood in court.

Owing to the fact that Judge W. D. Brimmer, Jr., is engaged in Supreme court, the trials of Joe Charles and Montgomery DuBois, were adjourned. Charles's case was adjourned to October 18, and DuBois's case to Friday morning. Charles is accused of beating up Mrs. Susie Stewart, and DuBois of hitting Patrick Snyder, another negro, in the head with a lighted lamp at Dwyer's brickyard. Patrick was able to be out today with his head swathed in bandages.

Morris Goldman and Morris Miller, two local taxi drivers, were arrested Tuesday afternoon by Officer Bob Healey on a charge of violating the taxi ordinance in soliciting passengers while standing more than five feet from their cars. Goldman pleaded guilty and was fined $5, but Miller pleaded not guilty and the hearing was adjourned to Saturday.

"WHITE" CONTEST ANSWERS SHOW MUCH INGENUITY

Readers of The Freeman have only three more days to take advantage of the prize offer being made by the Procter and Gamble Company through the columns of this paper. It is so easy to enter this contest there is really no excuse for a housewife who doesn't send some kind of an answer. Twenty-five women are going to get prizes. As one woman said: "A year's supply of soap is a generous prize these days."

Many women send in answers "just for the fun of it," but they may win a prize. And that's more fun. As explained on cards in every grocery store, and repeatedly in these columns, the rules are simple: Just write a statement of not over 50 words, telling why white clothes should be washed white. The statement must make sense.

At the top of the page write plainly the number of times the word "white" appears in your statement. Mail your answer to The Freeman, and mark your envelope "The White Contest."

300 OFFICERS KILLED IN WAR AGAINST HOOCH.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Three hundred officers of the law have been shot and killed during the past year while engaged in enforcing liquor laws.

This latest estimate of the prohibition death toll was made by prohibition enforcement officials today. The list was said to include the names not only of government prohibition agents but sheriffs and local officials.

Most of the killings have occurred on the borders and along the coasts in combat with smugglers.

O'CONNOR SAYS CAR WAS RUN CAREFULLY

Not Going More Than 12 Miles an Hour When Mrs. Scholing Was Hit, if It Hit Her at All.

The negligence action brought by William Scholing as administrator against Charles R. O'Connor, et al., to recover for the death of plaintiff's wife who died as a result of injuries sustained when she was run into by Mr. O'Connor's automobile near Alhambra on August 12, 1921, was continued Tuesday afternoon in supreme court. Mr. O'Connor, former federal prohibition enforcement officer for the state of New York, was returning to his home at Hobart when the accident happened. His car, in charge of his chauffeur, ran into a group of six people who were walking along the road. Mrs. Scholing was seriously injured and later died of her injuries. The others were less severely injured.

Plaintiff claims the defendant negligently ran into them while defendant claims that the blinding headlights of an approaching car blinded the driver of his car and it was impossible to see anyone on the road. Before the car could be stopped the group of people had been run into. At the time of the accident the O'Connor car was traveling, according to Mr. O'Connor, about 12 miles an hour. On the stand he testified that the party had left Kingston about an hour or an hour and a half before the accident happened and had proceeded in a careful manner. When about four miles from Kingston Mr. O'Connor says he cautioned the driver to take his time and the speed of the car from there on was from 20 to 25 miles an hour.

When the lights of the approaching car came into vision just prior to the accident the chauffeur slowed down the car and when a short distance away he slowed down still more until the car was traveling at about 12 miles an hour. The road at the scene of the accident is straight for a long distance.

On the stand Mr. O'Connor intimated that it was possible that his car did not strike the dead woman but that the car which passed him coming toward Kingston had struck her. She was found back of the O'Connor car lying in the roadway. Mrs. Blakeslee, who was in the party and who has brought an action for $15,000 against Mr. O'Connor, was found under the car after the car had been stopped. She was severely injured. The other woman who was also found under the car was not so severely injured and Mr. Reynolds and Mrs. Stegner and the little boy of Mrs. Scholing escaped serious injury.

The party which was walking along the road claim that no car was approaching and had passed them for a considerable distance prior to the accident.

"Vera Kingston" A Success.

Anthony Kohl of the White Tile Lunch, Railroad avenue, has returned from New Orleans where he visited his wife, Vera Kingston, where the "Little Billy" Company in which she has one of the leading parts has been playing a two weeks' engagement. Mr. Kohl states the large theater, the leading one in New Orleans, was packed matinee and night each day, and he brought back with him some flattering press notices given his wife. They were printed in the New Orleans newspapers.

Smith in Brooklyn.

New York, Oct. 11.—Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for governor, is expected in a speech in Brooklyn today to follow up his denunciation of Governor Nathan L. Miller. In Yonkers last night, the former governor referred to Governor Miller's claims to economy in the state administration as a mere juggling of figures.

BRAYTON SAID HE WAS ROBBED

But Police Say He Was Out Walking With a Girl, and Two of Her Gentlemen Friends Objected to His Attention—He Was Not Badly Hurt.

About 10:50 o'clock Tuesday night there came a riot call to police headquarters from the high road leading into Ponckhockie. The person who sent the call stating that some one was being murdered. The Kingston City Hospital was notified to prepare for a patient and Officers Fatum and Dempsey were rushed to the scene in the police car.

They found Aloysius Brayton, a young man residing in the lower section of the city, who said he had been set upon by two negroes from the carnival company and after beating him up they had robbed him of a dollar, all the money he had with him at the time.

The police department got busy and made an investigation, and stated today that Brayton's beating up was due to the fact that he had gone out walking with a young lady, and two of her gentlemen friends had objected, and had administered a beating. Brayton was not badly hurt. It is not expected that there will be any further developments.

30 DAYS' COAL SUPPLY ALLOWED

State Fuel Administrator Amends Order Whereby Householders May Be Supplied With 30 Days' Supply.

State Fuel Administrator W. H. Woodin, after conference with fuel administrators, has issued an order amending the order previously issued, which became effective today, whereby coal dealers are permitted to deliver thirty days' supply of coal to customers, but not a greater quantity, of the domestic sizes of anthracite known as egg, stove, chestnut and range coal.

No dealer or distributor shall deliver said thirty days' supply or any part thereof while there is already on the premises or within the possession of the householder or other consumer a quantity equal to or in excess of said thirty days' supply.

"Thirty days' supply shall be interpreted for the purpose of this order to be one-sixth of the average consumption from October 1, 1922, to April 1, 1923.

The thirty days' supply shall be considered within the meaning of section 8 of the fuel administration act to be reasonable requirements for use and consumption of a householder or other consumer for a reasonable time.

DR. DOWNER'S CAR STRUCK BY ANOTHER CAR TUESDAY

He Was Conveying a Patient to Hospital Here At Time.

Tuesday evening the automobile driven by Dr. M. B. Downer of Woodstock was sideswiped by another car a short distance above Stony Hollow, smashing the front wheel and axle, but Dr. Downer, his wife, and Miss Gusta Lyendecker, who were in the car, were uninjured. The automobilist who struck the Downer car did not stop. At the time Dr. Downer was conveying Miss Lyendecker to the Benedictine Hospital to undergo an operation for appendicitis. Another car was secured and the trip resumed and the operation performed. Miss Lyendecker is the sister of the well known illustrator and they have a summer home at Woodstock. Today she was reported as resting as comfortably as could be expected.

BLOODY BASKET IN MURDER MYSTERY

It May Figure In The Hall-Mills Murder Case—People Doubt Guilt of 19-Year-Old Boy.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 11.—The finding of a bloodstained basket near the scene of the murder of the Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, wealthy rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, and Mrs. James Mills, beautiful choir leader, led to a report today that one or two more arrests were expected soon.

Public opinion is growing that the authorities will not be able to prove the charge of first degree murder that has been lodged against Clifford Hayes, 19-year-old boy who was accused by his chum, Raymond Schneider, of shooting the clergyman and his companion in mistake for two other persons.

The basket was discovered in a gully, not far from the spot where the bodies were found beneath a stunted crab-apple tree on the old Phillips farm, two miles from this city. It was an ordinary chip basket of bushel size and contained a quantity of paper and rags stained with blood and covered with finger prints. It appeared as though someone had wiped his fingers upon the paper and rags.

Persons who saw the basket, have been summoned before the county authorities today to tell their story. Four men and a woman who requested that their names be withheld, saw the basket. Among them was a person who said he was certain that the red markings were made by blood.

Two more arrests have been made in the case—Pearl Bahner, 15-year-old girl with whom Clifford Hayes and Raymond Schneider were in love, and her father Nicholas Bahner. The girl and Schneider "discovered" the body and gave the first report of it to the authorities.

Somerset County Detective George Totten declared today that Mrs. Hall, widow of the slain clergyman, would be questioned again.

"We have just started to work on this case," said Totten. "We are not going to eliminate any clues or any persons that may prove valuable in throwing light upon this strange crime."

A new line of inquiry has developed, involving a woman not connected either with the Hall or Mills families. This woman is suspected of harboring a jealous resentment and if it is found that suspicion against her is justified, Hayes would be released. As the matter stands at present, Hayes is held for the grand jury upon the unsupported story of his pal Raymond Schneider who was jealous of the attentions passing between Hayes and Pearl Bahner.

Public dissatisfaction over the inability of the authorities to clear up the mystery, found vent early today in a mob attack upon Deputy Sheriff Frank P. Kirby.

Kirby is reputed to have followed Hayes and Schneider for two weeks after the murder, finally getting the statement from Schneider which resulted in Hayes's arrest.

When Kirby was attacked, he took refuge in the Pennsylvania Railroad ticket office, barring the door.

The mob outside clamored for admittance, the ringleaders shouting:

"You are the man who framed Cliff Hayes. We are going to get you."

Kirby was ultimately rescued by the police.

Another mob threatened to tar and feather a newspaper photographer for making a picture of Hayes's mother.

Public feeling is running very high here and it is feared that the long breaking unless it is cleared up immediately.

Hundreds of persons have visited the Hayes home, assuring the mother and father of the accused boy that they believe he is innocent and that the real murderers are still at large.

Prosecuting Attorney Beekman has taken the name of the aged woman inmate of the Parker Home who claimed to have seen a man and a woman fighting against two men and a woman on the night of September 14, at Derussey lane, and Easton avenue near the spot where the bodies were found.

The prosecutor said he might question this witness later but the officials are of the opinion that the crime has preyed upon the aged woman's mind and that she may have been suffering from hallucinations.

The intense public interest and continual discussions of the crime have been sufficient to affect the mind of one who is infirm. The woman, however, sticks to her story of seeing the fight and later hearing shots.

Hayes has made a lengthy statement to his counsel, Thomas Hagerty, accounting for every minute of his time for a week previous to the Hall-Mills murder. It was claimed by Hayes's friends that he would be able to establish an alibi.

Hayes denied to me that he was on the Phillips farm at any time on the night of the murder," said Hagerty. "I am satisfied he is telling the truth. I am convinced that the boy is innocent. He said he went to the Phillips Park early in the evening of September 14 and remained there until midnight when both he and Schneider went to their homes. Hayes reached home at 12:45 o'clock. This is corroborated by his family and contradicts Schneider's story that the shooting took place about 1:30 o'clock Friday morning, jail.

FR. LESNIEWSKI GOES TO NEW YORK

The Rev. Francis Lesniewski Transferred to the Largest Polish Parish in New York City.

The Rev. Francis Lesniewski who for the past eight years has been pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Delaware avenue, in this city, has received official notice from His Grace, the Most Rev. Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes, D. D., of New York, that he has been appointed to the pastorate to the Church of St. Stanislaus, located on East Seventh street, New York city, which is the largest Polish parish in the city of New York, having a congregation of over twenty thousand souls, and a parochial school with an attendance of over one thousand children, supervised by fourteen teaching Sisters of the Felician Order.

The promotion that has come to Father Lesniewski is in recognition of the faithful work and untiring efforts that he has put forth during his administration as pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church.

Father Lesniewski spent five years in classical study and preparation at the Polish Seminary in Detroit, Mich., and six years of study at St. Joseph's Seminary in Dunwoody and Yonkers, N. Y., and was ordained in 1913 at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York city by His Eminence, the late Cardinal Farley. After his ordination, Father Lesniewski was appointed as assistant pastor at the Church of St. Joseph at Florida, N. Y., where he served faithfully for a period of one year, when he was appointed pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in this city.

During his pastorate here he has worked with untiring efforts for the welfare of his flock and the city at large, and during the eight years that he has served his present pastorate he has accomplished a great many large and necessary undertakings and up to the present time has placed the church property of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in a condition which is second to none in the city of Kingston.

Among the many improvements made to the church property are the complete renovation of the church, the installation of beautiful and costly Stations of the Cross; a new and complete heating system in church, rectory and school; overhauling and painting of the school, recreation hall and rectory; the erection of a beautiful and modern convent, constructed at a cost of over fifteen thousand dollars and which at the present time houses the Felician Sisters, who look after the teaching of the younger generation of the parish.

In 1920 Father Lesniewski had placed in the tower of the church a new set of church bells, which are a great pride to the parishioners.

In November of last year it was with much pride and joy that Father Lesniewski caused to be celebrated the silver jubilee marking the founding of the parish and at which time many notables of the church were present.

During the past year the cemetery property, located on Flatbush avenue, has been improved and beautified, a new entrance and receiving vault having been placed in position. Through the untiring efforts and teachings of Father Lesniewski, a great number of his parishioners have become faithful and loyal citizens of the United States. Coupled with all these accomplishments is the payment, during his first five years in Kingston, of a mortgage on the church property of over $18,000.

In the going of Father Francis to the city of Kingston loses a true and loyal citizen and the parish of the Immaculate Conception a staunch leader and while his many friends in Kingston will regret his departure they all wish him "God speed" in his new field of labor, which he will assume on Saturday next, October 14.

His farewell service at the Church of the Immaculate Conception will be on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Ignatius Bielecky, who for the past two years has had charge of St. Stanislaus Church, to which Father Lesniewski goes on Saturday, has been transferred to Kingston, to take the place of Father Lesniewski.

Earthquake Repeats After Year.

Rome, Oct. 11.—Precisely at the same hour as happened a year ago, an earthquake shock occurred at Ancona today. The population was thrown into panic and considerable damage was done.

It is well known that Dr. Hall never went out alone after 10:30 at night. It is incredible that he could have been on the Phillips farm with Mrs. Mills at 1:30 in the morning.

Asked whether he thought it possible that Hayes may have been paid to commit the murder, Mr. Hagerty replied:

"Absolutely not. Clifford Hayes had only 18 cents in his pockets when he was arrested. He did not have any money from any source. I don't believe that either Hayes or Schneider was on the Phillips farm on the night of the murder. I believe that Schneider's story is pure imagination from beginning to end."

Hagerty said that Hayes "is mentally sound," but that he did not know much about Schneider. He said that Hayes is eating and sleeping normally and is well treated in jail.

VARIED PROGRAM FOR EXPOSITION

Entertainment Will Cover Wide Range—Not Too Late for Entries in Perfect Child Contest.

Harry P. Dodge and the manager of the Exposition are working on the program for the entertainments at the coming Exposition and some interesting attractions have been obtained.

The plan is to have them varied, so that people will want to come often. Much home talent will be used, vocalists, quartets and instrumental solos, dancers and balancers, together with the Style Shows, will prove that Kingston has a world of local talent and of high order, and the result will be a community entertainment. To increase the interest and variety, some outside features will also be offered and Mr. Dupee, the manager, has gone to New York today, to look up and engage special attractions of merit.

Mr. Dodge announces a very unusual attraction for one evening—moving pictures of the late war, made by the Signal Corps. These are the United States government official pictures and will show our boys in every situation, in trenches, and even under fire in actual battle.

This picture will be obtained from Washington by the Kingston Chapter of American Legion—and will be their contribution to the Exposition. It is also hoped to have present on the same evening Albert S. Callan, commander of the Legion, Department of New York, who is an interesting speaker.

Some seem to think it is too late to enter children in the Perfect Child Contest, but entries will be received for some time yet. All children living in Ulster county, between the ages of two and ten, are eligible. Mothers should send photo, name, address and age to the Chamber of Commerce, No. 448 Broadway, Kingston.

GENTLE SPRING BATH COME AGAIN IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 11.—Spring has come again—in New York at least. A robin was reported today from Central Park. Bluebirds and thrushes are thick as mosquitoes in Bronx Park. In City Hall Park, the grass is green and the trees have begun to bud. It is all on account of the hot wave accompanied by rainstorms that have been prevailing the past week. It is more like April than October.

Here are some of the latest developments in this unusual situation:

- 1—Squash vines have begun to blossom in the garden of Thomas Jenkins on Staten Island.
 - 2—A Ben Davis apple tree in the yard of O. J. Schneider, at Bellmore, Long Island, is in full bloom.
 - 3—Easter lilies are in bloom in the garden of Mrs. Frank McAfee in Brooklyn.
 - 4—Lima beans are sprouting at Freeport, L. I.
- It is beginning to look like a soft winter.

LONG AND HARD WINTER SAY HIGH HORNETS' NESTS

Pittsburgh, Oct. 11.—It's going to be a mighty cold winter if the animals in western Pennsylvania are not nature faking. Here in Allegheny county cows and horses have taken on a very heavy winter coat. This is a sure sign that there is going to be a long stretch of exceedingly cold weather, old timers who watch the signs say. Even more unusual is the old-fashioned sign of zero temperature. Pullets have moulted. Plumage provided for the first year has been dropped and rough feathering has replaced the usual light covering. Even the collie dogs on farms here about, have grown very heavy shaggy coats.

Up at Kane, Pa., William O. Altman says hornets' nests are hanging high this fall. Sure sign of long winter and deep snow. The coat of the caterpillar is black this fall, which, according to forest lore, forecasts severe cold weather.

E. M. TAYLOR FINED $500 IN BOOZE CASE.

Edward Molineaux Taylor of Poughkeepsie, who had been indicted on a charge of conspiracy to violate the state prohibition law, pleaded guilty Tuesday to the possession of liquor and was fined $500 by County Judge C. W. Arnold. Taylor was indicted in conjunction with Detective Joseph V. Sheely, of the Poughkeepsie force, and others in the theft of an automobile filled with liquor belonging to John Smith of Highland. Two were sentenced some time ago. The case of Detective Sheely will come up at a later date.

I. W. W. Must Pay Up.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—It will cost the I. W. W. $29,000 because William D. Haywood, their former leader and eight other "Reds" jumped their bonds and went to Russia. It became known today that was the amount of the bonds signed in behalf of the I. W. W. The total amount of the bonds forfeited through the flight of Haywood and his companions was $50,000. The government is taking steps to collect the full amount this week.

FATHER NEUMANN HOME SATURDAY

Pastor of St. Peter's Will Reach New York Friday on Return Trip to Europe—Parish to Arrange a Welcome Home Reception.

The Rev. John P. Neumann, pastor of St. Peter's Church, who has been abroad for several months, is expected to arrive in New York on the steamer Nieuw Amsterdam on Friday and will arrive in Kingston late Friday night or early Saturday morning. Father Neumann will be met on his arrival in New York by his assistant, the Rev. Joseph D. Ostermann, and a committee from St. Peter's parish and escorted to Kingston. Arrangements have been about completed to tender him a grand reception, the date of which has been set for Thursday evening, October 19, at St. Peter's School Hall at 8 o'clock.

The chief reason for holding the reception at a seeming long time after Father Neumann's arrival is that Sunday, October 15, has been designated as the opening of Forty Hours' Devotion at St. Peter's Church. This service will close on Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock with a procession of the Blessed Sacrament, at which all the men of the parish and several visiting priests will take part. Thursday evening he will receive his many friends who will be anxious and glad to greet him on his safe return. There will be no admission and others who are not members of the parish will be welcome. A fine program has been arranged for the evening and refreshments will be served.

W. P. CLEVELAND WON CLASS A GOLF MATCH

At Powelton Club's "Day of Golf" Held Saturday.

The Newburgh News says:

The Powelton Club's "Day of Golf"

of the Hudson River Golf Association was held on Saturday afternoon.

Francis L. Abreau upheld the local golfers' reputation by winning the Class C match. W. P. Cleveland of the Twaalfskill Golf Club of Kingston was the winner of the Class A match, while J. O. Puck of the Dutchess Golf Club of Poughkeepsie took first place in Class B. There are six clubs in the Hudson River Golf Association, and each has what is known as a "Day of Golf" on which each club is the host of the golfers of the other clubs of the association.

Saturday was the Powelton Club day.

Although but 57 players were entered, this can be attributed to the unpleasant weather, on Saturday, and the threatening skies early in the day which kept many players from other clubs than the Powelton at home.

The Flamingo Ballet.

The flamingoes which frequent some of the great African lakes, afford a wonderful and gorgeous spectacle. Around the edge of the water there may be seen arranged in the most perfect—almost military—symmetry some hundreds of these beautiful crimson birds, standing sentinel fashion in row after row, reminding one of nothing so much as the members of the corps de ballet at the theater. It is a characteristic of these beautiful birds that when feeding they keep together, drawn up artificially in lines, and resembling some distant army.

Controversy About Dew-Drops.

Old writers looked upon dew as the magical breathings of the gods. Eels and worms were supposed to come from them, and even today the name "dewworm" is used to describe one kind of these creatures. Certain blackberries, with very large seeds, are still called dewberries, and are supposed to be poisonous. A century ago a fierce controversy raged on the subject of dew. One side held that it fell from the air, their opponents maintained that it rose from the earth; but no one could say for certain where dew really came from.

Henry's Dinner Missing.

Henry A. Roberts, former state statistician, is looking for a negro with a strong arm. Roberts knows he has a strong arm because he carried a two-bushel market basket of groceries from Roberts' automobile recently. The basket contained 24 pounds of flour, 20 pounds of sugar, eggs, butter and trimmings to serve a wonderful Sunday dinner, which Roberts didn't enjoy. Not least among the contents was a nice fat chicken. Roberts told the police he expects the fellow to make a return visit to his car, and he told them he doesn't wish any interference when he finds him.—Indianapolis News.

Iceland and the Phones.

Those who are accustomed to think of Iceland merely as a bleak land of perpetual snow and ice may be surprised to learn that from the standpoint of telephone development it is well up in the list. The actual number of telephones, which is about 2,300, may seem small, but the total population is under 100,000, and on the basis of number of telephones per 100 population Iceland holds a good rank. With its 24 telephones for every 100 people Iceland comes ahead of Great Britain, which has 21, France, which has only 12 telephones for every 100 people.

Rivals for Rubber.

The radio manufacturers and the makers of briar pipes are rivals for the vulcanized rubber which is on the market and the extreme activity in radio circles has put a crimp in the pipe business. Deliveries of the rubber bits to the pipe manufacturers are from 16 to 18 weeks overdue. It is said that $500,000 annually is a conservative estimate of the amount spent for pipe bits.

Diver Heavily Outfitted.

Boots worn by deep-sea divers weigh 20 pounds each. The helmet weighs 40 pounds and the diver is obliged to carry additional ballast to take him far below the surface.

HANDMADE
FULL HAVANA FILLEDLook Next WeekSee how teeth glisten when the film goes Note what beauty you have gained

For your sake and your family's sake, start making this test today. Then look next week and see the changes that occur.

Millions of people of fifty nations are now brushing teeth in this new way. Dentists everywhere are urging them to do it. You can see the results wherever you look—in teeth that glisten as they never did before.

Now see them on your own teeth. Go get this free tube at your store.

Film makes teeth dingy

You feel on your teeth a viscous film. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Food stains, etc., cloud that film. Then it forms a thin dingy coat. Film is also the basis of tartar.

The ordinary tooth paste leaves much of that film intact. Thus most people's teeth, until lately, were clouded more or less. Beautiful teeth were less common.

They use it

The dainty people you see, who show white teeth, are probably users of Pepsodent. You see them everywhere. To women it means new beauty, new charm; to men new cleanliness. To children it means new protection against troubles you have had.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

A few days will convince you that this is a method essential to you and yours. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

One 10-Day Tube

This week only, any store named below will hand you a 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent. Just present the coupon. Make this test now and watch the delightful effects. It will be a revelation.

Some Pepsodent effects

Film coats are more readily combated. The teeth become highly polished, so film less easily adheres.

Pepsodent also multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize the acids which cause decay.

Thus Nature's great tooth-protecting agents are given manifold effect, while soap-and-chalk pastes reduce their power.

These results are bringing a new dental era in millions of homes the world over. And these whiter, safer, cleaner teeth mean life-long benefits. When you find them out, you will want your people to enjoy them.

TRAIL HUDSON VALLEY ATHLETIC LEAGUE MEETING.

Monday afternoon in Poughkeepsie, a meeting of the representatives of the schools in the Hudson Valley Athletic League was held. Poughkeepsie was represented by S. J. Kallcock, Newburgh by J. Harmon and Kingston by W. Buley. Suggestions were not made at the meeting, as the definite was done, the meeting being merely one for discussion. Questions were made that the representatives for the different basketball teams be agreed upon at the beginning of the season, out of town men the work of, refereeing. A session of the track meet held at Poughkeepsie took place. It was also held between the schools represented that all football officials should be men not residing in the town where the game is played. It was thought wise to invite Middleburgh and Port Jervis to join the league, and to adopt a single game schedule, the teams playing each other once instead of a two game schedule now in force. The idea of having a single game schedule, however, would be carried out if the two schools mentioned accepted the invitation. The election of officers for the league for the next season was postponed until the meeting, which is to be held in Newburgh, N. Y. on Saturday, October 28.

PROVIDED FOR VISITING TRIAL JUDGES

When the law of the visitation court justice has been held at the court house. The court on the second floor above the supreme court library, which is used by the board of county commissioners prior to moving to the county building and Crown streets, and used by the State Highway Department as an office, has been moved and redecorated and set out for the use of visiting judges. For some time past visiting judges have been compelled to use offices used by Judge Haskin. This frequently interfered with the duties of both justices and the law officer. The new office is a place where the judges can sit in comfort and well equipped with all the conveniences of a modern court room.

ASK THE TEAM CLOSES MOST SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The Coxsackie News says the Coxsackie baseball team has closed its season which will go down in local history as one of the best from a standpoint of the number of games won and lost. The team played 30 games, pitched 16, winning 14 and losing 16. The team lost six games to other pitchers in the league, but they were the only team to win the 16 games. When he was the pitcher struck out 197 of the opposing players, his record being 2 no-hit, no-run games. The team played 2 two-hit games, 13 three-hit games. The Coxsackie team in its 23 games scored 66 runs while their opponents scored 76.

Miss Charlotte Mills.

It was due to the appeal of Miss Charlotte Mills, fifteen, direct to Governor Edwards that the New Jersey state officials were spurred to action to make arrests in the sensational double murder of the Rev.
Edward Wheeler Hall and his con-leader, Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, Charlotte's mother.

First Illustrated Book.

It was the Roman author Varro, who in B. C. 70, issued the first book illustrated with portraits. He was not a great writer and he had been struggling for recognition for a good many years when he suddenly conceived the idea of preparing a volume containing the biographies of 700 of his famous fellow-citizens. History is silent on the rather interesting question whether Varro charged them for his services, but it is loud in his praise as the first writer who conceived the idea of illustrating his work with portraits. They were crudely drawn. But they were illustrations all the same, and after that the custom of embellishing historical works with such drawings became a fad among the writers of those days.

Silk Stockings.

It appears that Henry II, when preparing for the marriage of his sister in 1556, first had the idea for silk hose, M. F. (Bradford), and at that epoch-making event he was the first to wear knitted silk stockings. A hundred years later one Hindres established a factory for stockings in the Bois de Boulogne. This was the first factory in France. It was a success from the start, and when it received protection from the ministers it became a gold mine. In 1686 the venture was turned into a company.
From it arose the society of stocking makers. At this time ribbed stockings were made in England, but it was not until nearly a century later that such wear was introduced into France.

Unusual Order.

"I want a chicken," said little Hans to a farmer. "And I want it alive with the head cut off."

THE GOWN OF SILK AND FOX

Silk velvety and luxurious fox generously treated, are the features of this gown, a three-piece affair consisting of frock and wrap with imported metallic girdle.

PALE ORGANDIE IS WELCOMED

Combinations, including Lace, Are Very Popular Among the Handsome Gowns.

White organdie and cream batiste, combined with lace, have become very popular among the handsomer gowns, the New York Times finds. This may be an indication, too, that a style of this sort will carry over into winter.
But on the street and in all the smart lunching places these days one is very apt to see a black crepe or a black satin dress quite handsomely trimmed with some of this lingerie trimming that the season's thin and organdie dresses have made popular. And invariably, along with the long, low collars and the flouncy frills about the throats, there go wide cuffs or sleeve ends to carry out the complete idea.
There is, for instance, the filled and plaited organdie cuffs arranged in three stiff tiers and held snugly around the wrist with a black velvet ribbon band and cut steel buckle. This is a sparkling cut trimming, if you please, but it is only illustrative of lengths to which the designers are going in their effort to supply a touch of distinctness to some of the newer black frocks.

Then there is a circular cuff, flaring back and away from the hand being confined by only the simplest and narrowest sort of a band, closely held about the wrist. This particular cuff, made of white moire, is worn in combination with a peculiarly smart little moire waistcoat effect. But there are other applied cuffs, made very much on this principle and cut from stiff white organdie. They have a way of giving to every motion of the arm a certain grace of movement and line that it might lack entirely were the sleeves constructed without this elaborately designed addition in the way of a cuff.
It is evident that all of the white aloeve additions are verging very closely to the picturesque. There is nothing about them to be called simple or durable, but they do add charm to the gown, and on that promise they should be accepted with all due accord and enthusiasm.

DYED LACE IS IN LIMELIGHT

Delicate Colors Are Featured by French Makers; Orchidee Name of New Tint.

Laces this season are for the most part dyed in clear, bright hues such as almond green, like the soft green underside of a leaf, and moss rose pink. Orchidee is the name of a luccious tint that the French seem to make better than we do. It is a lavender tint with a lot of pink in it and is often used with steel or silver lace.
In fact, lace this season has taken an extremely adaptable turn and is combined with almost everything, from beads and silver tissue to fur. Pale gold lace and kolinsky are very smart, while silver lace encrusted with beads is used in long, sweeping panels over sheathlike alps of satin or velvet.

Sweaters Are Snug.

There is a new sort of sweater. It is made of tricot in a manner much like the sort worn by American athletes. That is to say, it is plain and snug and has a wide collar which pulls up around the ears. One sweater recently seen was white with a collar, wide cuffs and border around the hem of black and white perpendicular stripes. About the only thing to distinguish it from a man's sweater was a long black and white tassel on the left hip.

Hand Bags.

The newest hand bags and vanity cases of patent and dull leather have watches set in one corner. Sometimes the watch is rimmed with plain metal and other times given a rhinestone setting.

A Sewing Hint.

When sewing on tricotette hold the material in a heap in your lap. If it is laid out flat it is very apt to stretch.

Free of Squirrels.

Oak trees in California are often pitted as if by snailshells. The holes are made by woodpeckers, and in every hole is an acorn placed there by squirrels, so firmly imbedded that it is impossible to remove them with the fingers.

THE PRESENTATION.

Had there ever been any doubt relative to the courage and capability of Nathan L. Miller as a chief executive it would have been dispelled after he delivered his series of speeches in New York and the few at the beginning of his campaign up-state. He went at the facts just as a business man would submit an inventory of what had been done and how much money there was in the bank with which to do business in the future. He did not promise more information, but on the contrary he had a resume of what had been accomplished so the people could understand just how their affairs stand.

The governor proved that he cut down state expenditures and carried out his pledge to make the state live within its income. It was necessary to take definite action in many instances, but that he followed such a course was not surprising, because it will be remembered that when he was elected two years ago he said he would "hew to the line and let the chips fall where they may." It was imperative to do this to reduce outgo, for the income was appreciably less than expenditures. Had it continued under the policy of the Smith Democratic administration it would only have been a matter of a short while before the state of New York would have been as hopelessly in debt as New York City under its Tammany administration.

As to the people the governor told them the story of water and how it will be converted into light, heat and power so they may acquire such commodities at a proper rate. The governor also told the people how the patients in the state hospitals were receiving better treatment and how the inmates of penal institutions were being given more intelligent attention and made into self-supporting citizens. He took up the matter of reorganization of state departments, reducing the pay rolls and giving improved service. No part of the State government was overlooked in presenting the accomplishments of the Miller administration.

The people know what Governor Miller has done and they are determined that he will spend two years more in the executive chamber performing service for them, and so capably and courageously that they will get benefits they could not well afford to lose.

USE OF SURPLUS RICHES

According to the Wall Street Journal, Henry Ford is the richest man in the world. Without either denying or admitting the truth of such a statement, Mr. Ford has taken occasion to discuss the proper disposition of surplus wealth. "The Rockefeller and Carnegie distributions are all right, but I don't believe in that method," he is quoted as saying. He intimates that he expects to go on employing his money in industry with a view to increasing the wealth of the country by a larger production as well as providing jobs for thousands of additional men. Obviously there is more fame to be gained by the Carnegie method and there is more public benefit of a visible sort, but there is wide public benefit also from the method preferred by Mr. Ford, who is not open to criticism for a preference shared by the majority of capitalists. Reinvestment of surplus incomes in industry and production forwards the country's industrialism to the general benefit.

It is highly desirable, however, that a large part of surplus incomes should be employed in the interests of technical schools, medical research and many institutions of benefit to the public. Both methods are needed and both are economically sound. There are those who contend that there should be no surplus riches and that the system permitting them is all wrong, but that is another question. The point made clear by Mr. Ford's statement is that there is more than one desirable method of employing surplus riches.

When Mrs. Tolbert of Oklahoma went gunning for Mr. Tolbert and killed an innocent bystander the coroner's jury not only ruled that it was an accident but that the woman in the case was justified in trying to finish her brutal husband. They seem to have just stopped short of attend-advising her to learn how to shoot straight and then try again. If she had been a man she would now be in jail, and yet the Women's party is still demanding equal privileges with men!

From Switzerland comes the story of a curio collector poisoned by a drug concealed under the head of a serpent in a ring. Fortunately the poison had weakened, the ring being several centuries old, and so the collector who wore it merely had to sojourn in a hospital. This story of fact provides some basis for the stories of fiction wherein are employed deadly rings dating back to the time of the Borgias.

Dr. John Roach Straton of New York has opened his fall pulpit campaign against cigarettes, dancing, card-playing and prize-fighting. Has it ever occurred to him that a campaign against the offenses specified in the Ten Commandments might be regarded by his congregation as a welcome novelty?

1. Do gulls dive for their food?
2. Do kangaroos show intelligence?
3. Are milkweed butterflies sometimes smaller than usual? I caught one that looked like a milkweed, but so much smaller.

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Is woolly aphids a very dangerous disease on apple trees? Yes, troublesome in two ways, because it drains the tree's vitality by feeding on the roots and bark, and also opens an entrance for apple canker, a fungus that commonly starts in the wounds made by woolly aphids. This canker plagues not only the apple, but beech, oak, hazel, maple, dogwood and some other trees.

2. I saw a bird pecking at the trunk of a tree—not boring in—but I could not see that there was anything to peck—no caterpillars. What could it find?

You gave no description of the bird, but evidently it was a creeper of some sort hunting very fine food—tiny lice or even eggs in the bark cracks. Though these might be invisible to the human eye, the bird's eye sees them, being able to magnify and to adjust its focus wonderfully.

3. How do oysters reproduce? By eggs, spawned in quantities by the female, and fertilized after escaping in the water. A swimming organ called the "velum" develops at once and for a few days the embryo swims about, while rudimentary shell and organs start forming. Larvae caught in cold storms and washed out to sea, the embryo then sinks, attaches itself to some object at the bottom, and is called "spat." When a trifle further developed, young oysters are called "seed."

CURRENT OFFERINGS

AT THE THEATRE

A clean, crisp, clever concoction is "The Hunch" and it shows Gareth Hughes in the merriest bit of characterization that he has contributed to the screen. The story is by Percival Wilde and is a clean-up tip for the laugh market. News, comedy and literary digest are added subjects. Thursday "The Spanish Jade" with David Powell, a tale of adventure through sun-drenched Spain with a pair of Spanish lovers, señoritas dancing the wild fandango and the flashing of daggers of hot-blooded rivals glowing, glorious romance.

"The Greatest Truth" starring Mia May is a massive spectacle of modern romance and ancient Rome. Also William Desmond, hero of a million boys in "Perils of the Yukon." Thursday the thrill chapter play "Go Get 'Em Hutch."

"Irene" the musical comedy at the Opera House tonight at 8.15 promises a rare treat for local music lovers and the advance sale of seats indicates a record attendance. Patrons who have ordered seats should secure them at once as they will not be held after 8 p. m., but again placed on sale.

Eddie Collins and his big company of pretty girls and funny comedians continue to draw out large audiences at the Orpheum Theatre. Chief among Mr. Collins' support is Florence Wellmot, a prime donna of the dancing brunettes type who possesses a cultured voice and a wealth of magnificent and costly gowns. The play today is "What Happened to Jones." The picture "Shame."

WHY Discharge of Oil Waste Into Water Should Be Stopped

The ever-increasing practice of discharging oil and tar wastes into streams and harbors, and its effect on fish and fish industries, is strikingly set forth in a pamphlet issued by the bureau of fisheries. The fatal contamination that results from poisonous substances rejected by gas plants and petroleum distilleries, or dumped from tankers and oil-burning ships, must result in huge losses of food products and money. First it should be distinctly understood that the presence of a minute quantity of poison is sufficient to kill. For example, the American sunfish, though highly resistant to poisons, will die in about an hour in water four to five parts per million of phenanthrene or naphthalene, or five parts per million of hydrogen sulphide, or seven parts per million of ammonia; and, of course, very much weaker solutions will kill if the fish are exposed to them for several days.

Aside from this direct toxic effect, such pollution repels the fish from approaching shore at the only time when they might be caught; sickens or kills bottom-dwelling species such as oysters, kills, by suffocation, floating eggs and delicate larvae, destroys minute plants and animals on which the larvae and adult fish subsist; affects aquatic life by diminishing the aeration of the water, and destroys spawning grounds. Even petroleum products that contain no poisonous substance soluble in water may, by agitation, form a deadly emulsion that will kill in five minutes. Tarred roads also send their poisonous washings into the smaller streams. Remedial measures may be found in the commercial recovery of oils from drainage water, in the prevention of gashouse and refinery pollution with an increased use of wastes and in regulation, forbidding the dumping of oil from ships in harbors or near spawning grounds and feeding areas.—Scientific American.

ALL IN SCHEME OF NATURE

Why Human Beings and Lower Animals Have Lobes Is Explained by Scientists.

What we commonly call the ear—that is, the external part—is little more than a "telephone receiver," as it were, to the inner or true ear, with which all hearing is done. Of this "receiver" the lobes form an essential and necessary part. In Nature's wonderful way they are made to serve a very important purpose in keeping the drum of the ear properly stretched. Many waves of sound would be lost to the real ear were it not for the lobe.

The lobes of hunted animals, such as the hare or stag, point backward, and of hunting animals, such as the dog forward. Originally, it is believed our human lobes were movable, but, as with the advance of civilization, man had to depend less and less upon his sense of hearing for protection against danger, the muscles connected with our lobes fell into disuse and resulted in the lobes becoming practically a fixed part of our hearing machine.

How Atmosphere Affects Stars.

Atmospheric changes have a very marked effect upon the twinkling of the stars. For example, it is found to increase as the temperature falls and as the barometer rises. An experience of nearly forty years, says a writer in Conquest showed M. Montigny that with the quantity of moisture in the air the twinkling of the stars increased so markedly as to serve for a useful prognostic of rain. Cyclonic conditions generally are found to promote it, whilst it is extremely sensitive to magnetic disturbances. Humboldt on one occasion in the tropics found that the stars shone with a mild and planetary light; their scintillation was scarcely sensible at the horizon. This, it is apparent, was due to the great homogeneity of the atmosphere, whereby the extremely fine pencil of light from the stars was not interfered with by unequally dense strata.

Why Granny Was Pleased.

That even a public survey may possess a humorous aspect is evidenced by a story told by a westerner.

It appears that the boundary line between portions of Illinois and Indiana was long in dispute and that at length the government authorized a survey, which was duly executed. The old homestead of Granny Garver, one of the early settlers, was found to lie in Illinois, about eleven feet from the Indiana side. Granny expressed herself as much pleased, remarking that she had "heard tell Indiana was a powerful unhealthy state."

Why No Rule for Sleep.

A London doctor who has given the matter some extended investigation has come to the conclusion that there is no rule to be followed about hours of sleep, and there is no reason, he says, why a woman should have more sleep than a man.

One person gets as much benefit out of a habitual five hours' sound sleep as many another derives from eight or nine hours' lighter slumber, for quality of sleep is as important as quantity, a point that is often overlooked.

Green Peas Cause Divorce.

It would seem hardly credible that the eating of green peas could supply grounds for divorce, but some few years ago at the Pathological congress held in Paris curious statements were made about vegetables and the effect they produced on the human race. Haricot beans, which we heard so much of in war time, were supposed to give brain and brawn, spinach would prevent dawdling in the household, but green peas were to be taboo, for it was said that they developed frivolity and made women capricious and reckless. Men and women flirted under their influence, and the pathologists attributed a majority of the divorce cases to the eating of peas.

Famous Woman Life Saver.

Ida Lewis, the American life saver, was born at Newport, R. I., in 1841. By a special act of congress she became keeper of the Light Rock lighthouse, Newport harbor, of which her father had been keeper for many years. Expert at the oar and in swimming she saved twenty-two lives between 1897 and 1904, receiving medals from the United States government, the Humane society of Massachusetts and the Life Saving Benevolent society of New York. Her boat, the Beacon, presented to her by the citizens of Newport, was exhibited at the Columbian exposition, Chicago, in 1893. Her death occurred in 1911.

Hearts Entombed in Jerusalem.

The heart of the hero King Charlemagne is carefully preserved in the Cathedral of Aix-la-Chapelle. The late Marquis of Bute had his heart conveyed by sea, in the custody of his eldest and favorite daughter, from Scotland to the Mount of Olives, at Jerusalem, for entombment. The heart of King Robert Bruce—Scotland's national hero—after the strangest vicissitudes in connection with a vain attempt of his knight, Black Douglas, to convey it to the Holy Land, in fulfillment of a vow made by that monarch, to make a pilgrimage to Jerusalem, was brought back from Spain, and lies buried in the now ruined abbey of Melrose, the "Kennequah" of Sir Walter Scott's story of "The Abbot."

When King Robert Bruce's body was found in 1819, in the subterranean of the Abbey Church of Dunfermline, it was shown that his breastbone had been sawed through, in order to permit the removal of his great heart.

Why He Had to Move On "Look here, you," said the town sergeant of Plunkville, "you don't work and had better move on to some other burg."

I. W. W. DEMANDS RELEASE OF POLITICAL PRISONERS

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Radicals and liberals in 300 American cities were called upon by the I. W. W. today "to compel action" to effect the release of the seventy-two "Wobblies" held in federal prisons as the remnants of war time offenders convicted under the espionage act and other war laws.

"Defeat candidates for congress in the November elections who are opposed to amnesty for political prisoners," was the I. W. W. appeal. It was the first move of the I. W. W. organization in the present congressional campaign.

"President Harding has failed to keep the promise he made us on July 19 that he would review the cases of all political prisoners within sixty days," the appeal said. "He urged also that he would liberate every man who was found to be actually held for opinions. We must bring pressure to bear to compel action."

Radicals were urged to take the stump against candidates opposed to amnesty; to organize amnesty demonstrations a day or two before election day; to hold big parades and to enter the political campaign in every conceivable manner, using correspondence, the telephone, and, if possible, even the radio.

John Grady, successor of William D. "Big Bill" Haywood and head of the I. W. W., said he believed his organization would effect a tremendous influence in the campaign.

"Labor," he told International News Service, "will be brought to see the political prisoner issue clearly. We can exert a powerful influence among the laboring class, as well as among other people."

"These prisoners have now been in jail five years—merely because they exercised their constitutional right of free speech. None of them is serving time for acts of violence."

"The key to the situation is Washington. Washington must be shown that the American people are opposed to the incarceration of these men solely for written or spoken opposition to the war."

Eleven of the seventy-two men in jail are in for twenty years forty-four for ten years; the others are serving lesser sentences, the lowest five years. They were convicted of conspiracy to cause insubordination in military and naval forces and to obstruct recruiting.

Seventy of the prisoners are in confinement at Leavenworth, Kans., one at Atlanta and one at McNeill's Island.

All of the prisoners deny they have engaged in a "conspiracy." Fifty-two of them have refused to apply for individual clemency.

A Coming Treat.

The Federated Council of Parent-Teachers Associations has secured Miss Mayme English Lillotte, a reader and impersonator of considerable note, to give a recital next week Friday evening, October 20th, in the high school auditorium. In order that the grammar schools may also hear Miss Lillotte, a matinee recital called "The Story Hour" has been arranged for pupils from the first to the sixth grades inclusive.

MANY USE APPLES AS STAPLE FOOD

The large apple crop this year means plenty of fruit adapted to many uses, well ripened varieties for every month until after Christmas at least, and little or no transportation costs for most parts of New York state, according to the home economics workers at the state college of agriculture.

As fresh fruit for breakfast, a good quality apple is hard to beat; and any of the eating or cooking varieties make excellent salad. A healthy and popular one consist of apples, sweet Spanish onions, and boiled dressing.

Apples also make a surprising number of cooked dishes, the specialists say. From the old stand-bys—apple pie, apple sauce, baked apples with cream—through a long list of apples with cereal, brown betty, dumplings, whips, fried apples, and apple puddings, one may plan meals for a month using no other fruit and still not serve apples twice the same way except when the family requests a return engagement of some favorite dish as they are likely to do often.

Greatest Tenor Here Nov. 17.

Lambert Murphy, the tenor whose appearance will be one of the bright musical events of the local concert season, was formerly a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York. His engagement with that organization came two years after he graduated from Harvard College in 1907. The young tenor had accepted a fine church position in New York and was already well known as a concert singer. The opportunity to be listed among the opera stars was a great honor to so young an American artist and for three years Mr. Murphy gave a brilliant account of himself in numerous tenor roles. The call of the concert stage was however too strong and he resigned the glamor of stage settings and costumes for the broader field of song recitals. In this work he has built for himself a reputation for sincere art and polished delivery that make his name prominent among the most successful singers of the day. He will sing in Kingston on November 17.

every family in the congregation and raised $105.25, which will be added to the Ladies' Aid treasury, and will be used for the benefit of the church.

TILLSON.

Oct. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Dean Robins and little son, Edwin have returned to their home in Amsterdam, N. Y., after spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Merrihue.

Mrs. F. Myers and Mrs. M. Bush are visiting their sister in Stone Ridge.

A number from this place attended the Danbury fair.

George Avery and Mr. Freeman were in this place Sunday.

Merrihue and Green have purchased a tractor.

The school children are all glad to see Miss Lounsbury back again. During the summer Miss Lounsbury underwent an operation and at the beginning of the school term she was unable to take up her duties. Mr. Murdoch of Marlborough substituted for her.

Mrs. R. Parker has moved to Maple Hill where she has purchased a house.

We are glad to hear that Grant Martine, who has been for some time in the Benedictine Hospital, is improving.

GRANDMOTHER PORK

"Grunt, grunt," said Grandfather Porky Pig.

"Squeal, squeal," said Miss Ham.

"Grunt, grunt, squeal, squeal," said Sir Percival Pork.

"Squeal, squeal," said Sir Benjamin Bacon.

"Grunt, grunt," said Mrs. Pink Pig.

"Squeal, squeal," said Mrs. Pinky Pig.

"Grunt, grunt," said Pinky Pig's mother.

Then Sammy Sausage came walking along and he too said "Grunt, grunt!"

Pretty soon Brother Bacon walked to the part of the pig pen where were gathered all the other pigs and he said:

"Grunt, grunt."

"Squeal, squeal," said Sammy Sausage as he twisted his little tail into a knot.

"Grunt, grunt," said Pinky Pig and Master Pink Pig said, "Squeal, squeal."

"Well, well, well, grunt, grunt, grunt, squeal, squeal, squeal," said Grandmother Pork, who had just arrived in the Pig Pen.

"It is nice of you all to greet me as you do," she said. "I am pleased to meet you and hope you have plenty of food in these parts."

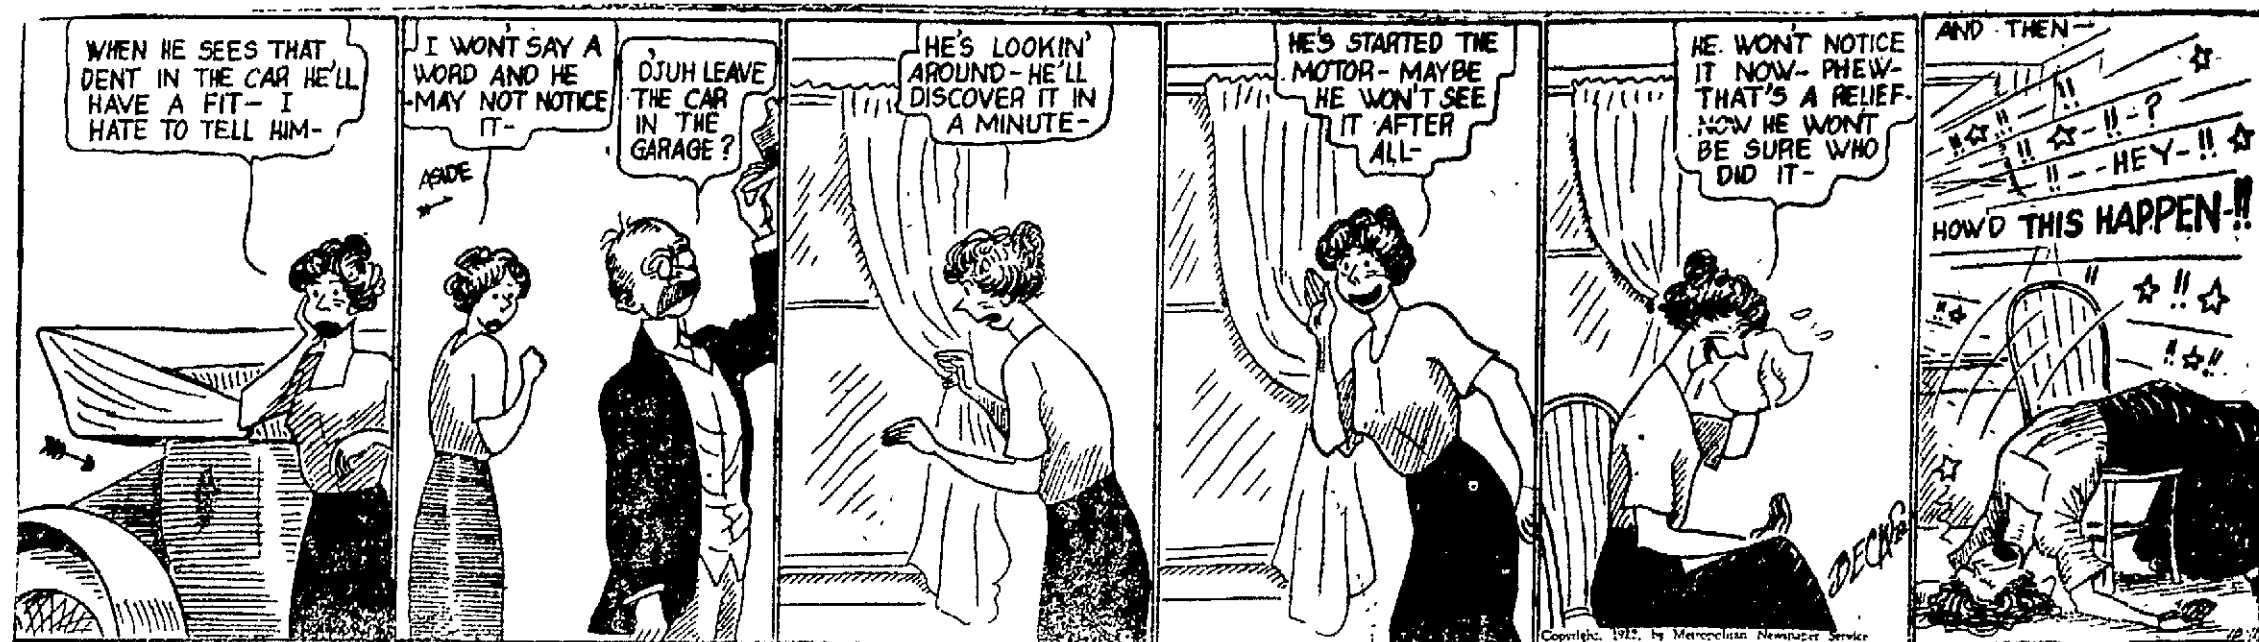

All the pigs squealed and Grandmother Pork knew she had made a good impression, and they thought she was natural and without airs and graces.

"Well," she continued, "as I said, I am delighted to meet you and I am glad you welcome me as you do."

"A welcome makes a great deal of difference. Now I will tell you about myself and in that way you will more quickly become acquainted with me."

"I do not want you to feel that I am a stranger. I am a nice, good-natured, friendly, pleasant old hog, and my name is Grandmother Pork."

"I believe that Grandfather Porky Pig here is a cousin of mine."

"Yes, yes, grunt, grunt," said Grandfather Porky Pig.

"Of course," Grandmother Pork continued, "we are all cousins."

And the pigs all squealed and grunted as they twisted their crooked little tails.

"It is true. We are all cousins."

"But I am a first cousin of Grandfather Porky Pig and second or third cousin to most of the rest of you. I'm first cousin, once removed, to a few. I've never quite known what that 'once removed' meant because I've never been removed from any of them once or twice or three times."

"Of course we go our different ways, but I wouldn't speak of having cousins 'once removed' had not I been told that that was correct."

"Well, I have had two hundred children and many, many grandchildren and a good mother and a good grandmother have I been."

"I looked after all my children myself and whenever I heard one squeal my big snout would be getting at the trouble and I would be looking worried, for I had pig love in my pig heart for my pig children."

"Some mother pigs become nervous and eat their little ones, but not so many, not so many."

"I've always been considered a perfect mother and I'm glad to be considered that, for I love little pigs—dear, cunning, pink, squealing little darlings."

"So now you know about me, and here I am, a new addition to this pig pen."

"And a fine addition," said the other pigs. "Squeal, squeal, grunt, grunt, Grandmother Pork, we're glad to have you with us."

Then the farmer came out with some food, and Grandmother Pork hurried toward it as quickly as the others did.

"She's good and spry," they all said as they winked at each other.

A Waste of Good English.

"Bobby," said his mother, "why do you keep telling Rover to 'set up' when you know 'sit up' is what you should say?"

"Oh, well, mother," said Bobby, "of course I know lots of grammar, but I don't like to waste it on Rover when he doesn't know the difference, being a dog."

Observation more than books, experience rather than persons, are the prize educators.

It sometimes takes courage to insist that you are right, but a lot more to admit that you are wrong.

WHAT TO EAT

The right kind of breakfast, as any other meal, begins the day before, which means, being planned before. The first meal of the day is to many housekeepers the most difficult meal of all. Of course, if you go without breakfast the problem is solved; it saves trouble, food, and gives one a few minutes longer in bed; however, the breakfast habit is fairly well established, having been active for any number of centuries, so that the housewife, present and to come, will probably still plan and execute breakfasts.

It is wise to remember that the first meal should be a happy quiet one, starting the family off to their various duties in a cheerful frame of mind. There have been no statistics compiled which tell us of the tragedies, crimes and miseries which have been caused by poor food, boiled in a wild and disordered household; who can tell the far-reaching effects of such conditions?

When proper thought has been given the menu, there is no reason that it should not be varied, as there are countless ways of serving the common things. Heavy, hearty foods are not good for inactive people and when one feels stupid and dull an hour or two after eating it is wise to look into the menu.

Most people enjoy a bit of fruit in season the first thing, then a dish of cereal of some kind, which, because of the variety, may be different every morning; an egg or bacon and toast with a cup of coffee, will be sufficient for the average appetite.

Hot breads, waffles, griddle cakes may occasionally take the place of toast, though the season and temperature affects the appetite.

Southern Pudding.—Take two cups of mashed sweet potatoes, add the yolks of four eggs well beaten, two pints of milk, one-half cup of sugar, and a teaspoonful of cinnamon; stir in lightly the whites of four eggs beaten stiff and turn into a well-buttered baking dish to bake. Serve with any sauce or without.

A Ferocious Little Fish.

The piranha, a fish which infests the waters of British Guiana, though scarcely bigger than a herring, is incredibly savage. It will attack other fish and bite large pieces out of their fins and tail, will assault the steering paddles of a boat, and has been known, when in force, to kill men. The piranha is a notorious cannibal, devouring any of its comrades who may be wounded or in difficulties. But even the piranha has its uses. Some Indian tribes leave their dead in the river for the piranhas to strip the bones, and then preserve the skeleton, dyed red, as a family heirloom.

Umbrellas Considered Effeminate.

When umbrellas were first introduced into America, in the latter part of the Eighteenth century, their use was confined almost exclusively to women, as it was regarded as very effeminate to carry one.

The Studebaker Light-Six Roadster and Coupe-Roadster were primarily built for business use. In meeting the urgent demands of business, they naturally have fulfilled the needs of the small family.

Each is built for hard usage, day in and day out. And as they are completely Studebaker built—you know they will stand up under hard going.

The bodies are attractive, roomy and thoroughly comfortable for all-day travel. Ample luggage space is provided under the rear decks.

There's an internal hot-spot to reduce gasoline consumption to a minimum. Valves are inclined at a 20 degree angle to give a new measure of power, greater flexibility and better acceleration. Crank shaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces, thus eliminating vibration and insuring longer life to the motor.

Studebaker low prices are made possible by great volume and complete manufacture. Studebaker quality is traditional.

The Studebaker Light-Six Coupe-Roadster seats two passengers; has side coach lamps; rain visor and windshield wiper; eight-day clock.

The three-passenger Roadster has cow light; storm curtains opening with the doors; large plate-glass window in rear curtain, and inside and outside door handles.

Both models are upholstered in genuine leather; have ample space under the rear deck for luggage; ignition and chief-roof transmission locks, and cow ventilator.

Small, but Powerful.

Germes are not little animals. They are tiny plants, the smallest living things known. They are sometimes called bacteria or microbes. You might have some idea of the size of a germ if you could take a grain of sand and split it into a million pieces. Of course, some germs are larger than others, but the largest cannot be seen without the aid of a powerful microscope.

SUPERVISORS IN SPECIAL SESSION

A special meeting of the board of supervisors has been called to be held at the supervisors' room in the court house, on Tuesday evening, October 17, at 7:30 o'clock. Various matters necessary to be acted upon, such as the issuing of certificates by towns, and highway matters, will come up and it is probable a session will also be held on Wednesday evening.

BAR WOMAN JUROR IN DUTCHESS COURT

Mrs. Isadora Davis, the first woman ever called for jury duty in the Dutchess County court, was not permitted to serve after she had taken her seat in the jury box Tuesday.

Judge Arnold, looking up from the perusal of some legal papers, saw Mrs. Davis in the jury box.

"What's all this?" he asked Clerk Allen.

"Mrs. Davis's name was drawn," the clerk answered.

"You're excused, madam," the court said.

Judge Arnold later explained that the law still calls for male citizens to serve as jurors. The law, he added, has not been changed to permit women on juries.

Mrs. Davis, whose residence is 28 Washington avenue, Beacon, seemed quite disappointed.

"Yes, I was willing to serve," she stated to the reporter when asked.

"I vote," she added, "and in return for that privilege I believe women ought to stand ready to assume their share of civic duties and responsibilities."

PILLAGE MARKS GREEK EXODUS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Oct. 11.—The Greek exodus from Thrace is marked by conflagrations and pillage, said a Sofia despatch to the Daily Express today.

Sixty villages are reported to have been pillaged and burned by the Greeks in their wild flight westward before the Turks cross into Europe from Asia.

Greek troops are reported to be concentrating on the Bulgarian frontier north of Adrianople.

The Greek military leaders are said to be disaffected with the Allied terms and are threatening to mutiny and fight the Turks without the sanction of the Athens government.

Athens, Oct. 11.—Greek authorities in the Near East today were working with frantic haste to get all the Greek Christians out of eastern Thrace before the Turks can move in and menace their lives.

The Greek consulate at Constantinople already has issued 30,000 passports for Greek citizens to leave for Greece.

Greek residents of Constantinople are reported in flight.

Many Greek officers who were captured by the Turks in their drive on Smyrna are reported to have been sentenced to death by court martial.

Former Premier Zaimis, first prime minister under the revolutionary regime at Athens, who resigned on account of ill health, has had a remarkable recovery and announced today that he was able to resume his duties.

Odds and Ends

The Women's Auxiliary of the Holy Cross Church will hold their first fall meeting Thursday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock at the parish house.

It is desired that the money from the summer food sales be turned in at this time.

Circle No. 1 of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will hold their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. William Winchell at 738 Broadway Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

Tuesday evening the Philathea and Baracca Classes of the Wurst Street Baptist Church held their joint monthly business meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Van Aken on Bayard street, Port Ewen. Matters of importance to both classes were discussed and work planned out for the coming winter months.

At the conclusion of the business session a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by members of the classes. Despite the inclement weather there was a very large attendance.

GARDEN CLUB TO BRING DR. HOUSE TO KINGSTON

Through the efforts of the Ulster Garden Club Dr. Homer D. House, state botanist, will lecture in Kingston on "Wild Flowers and Their Possibilities Under Cultivation."

The Garden Club wishes to invite their members and their friends and all of the literary clubs of the city and of the Society of Little Gardens to attend this lecture, which will be held at three o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, October 17th at St. John's Parish House on Wall street.

Dr. House, the author of "Wild Flowers of New York," is perhaps our greatest authority on wild flowers, and his subject for the coming lecture should be of wide interest. He will illustrate his talk with colored slides, and those familiar with the beautiful plates in his book, all of which he made himself, will appreciate the opportunity of seeing his colored slides.

Men Invited To Hear Dr. Scudder

Tonight at 8 o'clock, Dr. Ida Scudder of India will address a big union meeting of all the protestant churches of the city at the Fair Street Reformed Church.

While the work in which Dr. Scudder is engaged is for women and preparation for her coming here has been made by women, Dr. Scudder will prove just as interesting and informing to the men of the community as to the women, and the men of Kingston, interested in the bigger things of life than simply community matters are cordially invited to be present this evening and hear what Dr. Scudder, as charming a speaker as a woman—has to say.

Heavy Fire Loss in Albany.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Damage estimated at $250,000 was caused here today by fire which destroyed the building of the Federal Record Company. The company made phonograph records, and thousands of them were destroyed. Firemen fought the flames for five hours.

Trees Blossom in Maryland.

Hagerstown, Md., Oct. 11.—Peach and apple trees are in full bloom in many Cumberland valley orchards. The first time such a freak of nature has occurred in several decades. The hottest October weather for 30 years has caused fruit trees to blossom.

McCormack Back Home.

New York, Oct. 11.—John McCormack, the Irish tenor, returned today after a summer abroad where he went to recuperate from an illness that for a time threatened to affect his voice. He declared that he had completely recovered and that his voice is in better shape than ever before. He will open his concert season here next Monday.

Auchmoody Sell His Residence.

W. J. Auchmoody has sold through Frank DuPont his two family modern residence with all improvements at 123 Clinton avenue, the lot being 35 feet front and 100 feet in depth, to Mrs. Susie Fowler of Fleischmanns. The purchaser will take possession on November 1, and she will make her home there.

Tree "Siamese Twins."

What may be called the "Siamese Twins" of the tree world is found on an island formed by two branches of the Mississippi river, at Rock Island, Ill. The island, occupied by an arsenal of the United States government, embraces some 200 acres of luxuriant forest, comprising many varieties of trees, and almost in the center of it is the twin tree, an oak and an elm, the trunks of which having grown close together many years ago, appear to be merged into a single bole to a height of five or six feet.

At this height the trunks, says the Detroit News, are entirely separate, each bearing its own peculiar bark formation and foliage. The twin has been estimated to be a hundred years old, but is still of vigorous growth.

Origin of "Sincere."

Superficially viewed, the word "sincere" does not seem to bear any relation to "wax." And yet "cera" (the Latin for wax) is probably one of the component parts of "sincere," preceded by the particle "sine" (without). So "sincere" would mean "without wax" and hence, of course, strained honey, honey without an admixture that would be pure, the best on the market. This derivation of the word designating purity of purpose and freedom from pretense, may sound far-fetched, but there are words of equally ingenious origin that answer every test of etymology.

Society Notes

Short-Heed.

Tuesday evening at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, the Rev. William J. Nelson united in marriage Lida B. Reed and Abraham H. Short, both of this city. The attendants were J. L. Schermerhorn and Miss Emily C. Nelson. They will reside at 62 O'Neill street.

Wells-Abbott.

The wedding of Floyd B. Wells of this city and Bonita Abbott of Erie, Pa., took place Tuesday at the bride's home. After a short honeymoon, spent in Buffalo, New York and Kingston they will reside in Erie, where Mr. Wells is a traveling representative for Barnes, McCoy & Ely, of 349 Broadway, New York city.

Dederick-Layton.

In their home on Elm street, Saugerties, Saturday night, Irwin Dederick and Miss Nellie Layton, both of Saugerties, were united in marriage by the Rev. Josephine D. Richards.

The bridesmaid was Miss Blanche Hoff and best man John Layton, the brother of the bride. The bride was beautifully attired in a dark blue gown carrying a bunch of carnations. After the ceremony, the happy couple were greeted by members of the Twentieth Century Bible Class of the Congregational Church. Many beautiful presents were received by the newlyweds.

Rockford-Nicols.

Miss Kathryn Elizabeth Nicols, daughter of Richard A. Nicols, and Walter John Rockford, both of Woodhaven, will be married at St. Thomas's Church, Woodhaven, L. I., on Thursday, October 12, at 4 o'clock.

One of Miss Nicols's bridesmaids will be Miss Carrie Brock a cousin of this city. Mrs. Mary Streble and Mrs. William J. Gehring, aunts of Miss Nicols, will attend the wedding. Miss Nicols is a granddaughter of Nicholas Brock, Sr., of 27 Smith avenue, this city, and is well known and has many friends in Kingston, where for years she has spent her annual vacation.

Stock-Murphy.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Frederick Lewis Stock of Highland, N. Y., and Miss Gertrude Mary Murphy of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., formerly of Saugerties, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy, Sunday, September 10th, by the Rev. J. Addison Jones in the Reformed Church, Poughkeepsie. The bride was attended by Miss Willa Stock, sister of the groom, as maid of honor. Mildred E. Hendricks of Poughkeepsie, was best man. After the ceremony a luncheon was served at the groom's parents' home and Mr. and Mrs. Stock left for a trip through the Berkshires. They now reside at West Tarkenton, N. Y.

Kirchner-Constable.

On Saturday, October 7th, at one o'clock a very quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Constable of Tannersville, N. Y., when their daughter, Miss Violet Helen Constable, became the bride of Harry L. Kirchner, of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. E. W. Bryant, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Tannersville. Only the immediate families of the bride and groom were present. Mr. and Mrs. Kirchner will spend two weeks in Washington, D. C. on their return they will make their home at 390 Albany avenue this city. Mr. Kirchner is chief clerk for the Kingston Gas and Electric Company.

Twentieth Century Club.

The Twentieth Century Club met with Mrs. Safford on Monday afternoon. Following the roll call of current events, Miss Ingalls read for Mrs. W. N. Fessenden who is attending the State Federation meeting, her paper on "Religions of Japan, Shintoism, Buddhism, Confucianism." This interesting and informing paper was followed by another full of interest on "The Japanese People," given by Mrs. Wooman. The program was pleasantly varied by vocal solos from "Madame Butterfly," delightfully sung by Mrs. Patterson accompanied by Mrs. Eltinge. The next meeting of this club will be on October 23rd, at the home of Mrs. Hyman Roosa.

Sorosis.

Mrs. Cora Drake entertained Sorosis on Monday afternoon. Before speaking of this week's meeting it should be said that last week's exceptionally good paper on "Thomas Hardy" and his book, "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" was given by Mrs. George Styles, Jr. The roll call was by Mrs. Safford.

Today was "Biographical Novels of Today." The paper for the day was on "William De Morgan" and his book, "Joseph Vance," and was given by Mrs. Grover Lasher, who entertainingly and cleverly sketched De Morgan's life and aptly reviewed his book. A live discussion followed this excellent paper. In addition, Mrs. Drake read several letters from De Morgan to William Lyons Phelps, and criticisms of De Morgan by Phelps that added considerably to the afternoon's interest. Next Monday afternoon Sorosis will meet with Mrs. Lorraine Wood at her home on Highland avenue.

Stock-Hart.

St. Mary's Church was the scene this afternoon at 2:45 o'clock of a charming autumnal wedding when Miss Katherine Agnes Hart, daughter of Michael Hart of this city, and Edward Joseph Stock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Stock, were united in marriage. The Rev. Rev. John J. Hickey, former pastor of St. Mary's Church, now of New York city, officiated, assisted by Father Ostermann of St. Peter's Church, Father DeKrom, of the Benedictine Hospital, and Father Duffy, of St. Mary's Church. The altar of the church was beautifully decorated with white dahlias. The bride, who is a graduate nurse of the class of 1920 of the training class of the Benedictine Hospital, was beautifully groomed in white Canton crepe, trimmed with white Spanish lace, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Marie Hart of Brooklyn, who wore a picturesque creation of silver blue taffeta with black picture hat and of 1922-23.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 11.—The stock market opened strong today. Standard Oil of New Jersey gained five points to 238 and Mexican Petroleum nearly 3 points to 196 1/2. Crucible Steel moved up 3/4 to 37 1/2 and U. S. Steel was 1/2 higher at 107 1/2. Reading was 1/2 higher at 79. Studebaker gained 1/2 at 144 1/2, and Baldwin Locomotive advanced 1/2 to 139 1/2.

After the early trading the railroad issues became active, many moving up one point or more. Reading rose 1 1/2 to 79 1/2. Union Pacific advanced to 152 1/2. U. S. Steel rose to 107 1/2.

Many stocks reacted in mid-afternoon. U. S. Steel yielded early 1 point to 106 1/2. Mexican Petroleum dropped five and a half points to 198 and Standard Oil of New Jersey was over 5 points below its early high of 233 1/2. The railroad stocks also turned heavy, Union Pacific reacting 1 1/2 to 150 1/2.

The market closed strong today, government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

He Must Grow

And a child to grow needs 16 elements, fed in right proportions.
All those 16 elements are in oats.
He needs six minerals which are found in oats.
He needs vitamins, and oats supply them.
That is why oats hold the place they do as food for growing children.
Yet the oat is a most economical food.
A large dish of Mother's Oats costs less than one bite of meat.
Then why not serve the finest oats?
Why not get the flavor which only large, rich grains supply?
Why not insist on Mother's Oats, which are made to delight the child?

Exide BATTERIES

Delivering the goods

The horse is being driven closer to his stable; the gas truck (started and lighted by an Exide Battery) goes on long hauls; and through the great zone in between, the electric street vehicle is coming into its own. Propelled by an Exide-Ironclad Battery, it delivers the goods—with least trouble and most economy.

Propulsion is only one of the many functions that Exide Batteries perform in the daily life of the nation. They supply the reserve power for most wireless plants; they provide the current that sends your voice over the telephone system—that operates railroad switches, and lights farms and yachts.

Experience in making batteries for all purposes, from the very dawn of the storage battery industry, is available to you when it comes time to replace the starting and lighting battery in your automobile. You will find Exide quality an economy in long service and dependable power.

When you need a new Exide or repairs on any make of battery, let the nearest service station be of help to you.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pleasing "Lingerie" Model.

3967. For this charming style crepe de chine, radium silk, batiste or crepe could be used. Embroidery lace, or simple hemstitching is effective for trimming. The gown may be finished without the dainty bib portion shown in the large view, and its fulness may be confined at the waistline with ribbon drawn through slashes.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: Small, 31-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 4 1/2 yards of 32 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department. The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

OUTSIDE VAULTS ARE UNDER BAN

Health Board Directs Edward T. McGill and John T. Cahill to Connect Their Properties on Broadway and Cedar Street With Sewer at Once.

Complaints regarding outside vaults, were heard Tuesday evening by the board of health and the board instructed its officers to notify Edward T. McGill and John T. Cahill to discontinue outside vaults on their properties at once and connect with the sewer.

The McGill property is located at No. 582-584 Broadway, and according to the officers of the board he has been notified from time to time to make sewer connections, but he had continued to refuse to obey the commands of the board.

The Cahill properties are located at 17-21-23 Cedar street where there are three outside vaults. It was stated that Mr. Cahill had been notified before William was laid in that street to discontinue the vaults and make connections with the sewer, but he also had disregarded the board's commands.

The board unanimously directed that Messrs. McGill and Cahill be notified to have the work done immediately, and if they failed to do so the board would take the necessary legal steps to compel them to live up to the sanitary regulations of the city.

Hereafter the health board will have charge of the garbage collections in Kingston, and before any one can collect garbage a permit must first be obtained from the board. For the past few years permits were issued by the board of public works who have turned the matter back to the health board at the request of the latter board.

Several routine matters were taken up, and the reports of the officers were received and filed. The reports will be found elsewhere.

Mayor Crane presided with Commissioners Day, Norwood, McBride and Kaufman present.

The board then adjourned.

FISH THAT PROTECT BRIDGES

Mussels Are Used Also in a Great Many Parts of Europe for Building Sea Walls.

When you pluck a mussel from the resting place it has chosen under a weed that fringes a rock it does not come away very easily, for the shell is secured firmly to the rock by means of a mass of coarse threads.

These form the cable by which the mussel anchors itself so securely that it can withstand the force of the strongest seas.

In its young days the mussel moves about with the best of them, but after a short spell of gadding about it settles down in one spot for the rest of its existence.

So strong are the united threads of a colony of mussels that engineers responsible for building sea walls on the continent make considerable use of them, says London Tit-Bits. If mussels can be induced to settle on the most exposed parts of the structure the roughest seas will do little harm, for they bind the stones together so tightly that there is no fear that they will give way.

In England the bridge over the Torridge at Bideford, in Devonshire could not remain standing if it were not for the mussels which hold its foundations together.

When the bridge was in danger of giving way many years ago a genius had the idea of depositing boatloads of mussels round its piles. The experiment was tried with success and the bridge stands firm to this day. Fresh supplies of mussels are put down from time to time.

ACE OF SPADES TITLE PAGE

Fact That It Was Once "Duty Card" Responsible for the Custom That Now Prevails.

In England the first act imposing a tax upon playing cards provided that no pack should be sold unless marked by the stamp office to show that the duty had been paid, one stamp being placed on the wrapper and another on the face of "one of the cards."

A good deal of confusion arose, historians explain, and as the law was often evaded a later regulation laid it down that the ace of spades should be the duty card and that it should be printed by the authorities themselves, the makers supplying the paper. Sheets of 20 aces of spades used to be issued by the stamp office to the manufacturers for a sovereign.

A century later an act lowered the duty to three pence, and this was laid on the wrapper supplied by the stamp office. The manufacturers, then, of course, printed their own aces of spades, but the custom of having the card different from the rest still prevailed, and the ace was, and is, generally utilized as an advertisement for the makers—a kind of title page as it were, to the pack.

Lunenburg Settled by Hessians.

One of the quaint spots of Nova Scotia is the fishing town of Lunenburg, where the smell of fish is over all. Churches, fish flakes, curing plants, steep hills, bold headlands, shipyards, skilled fishermen and a sightly fleet of fishing vessels, ozen and German-looking faces, figures and names, are the characteristics. The place was settled by Hessians back in George IV's time, and marked traces of the early settlers remain. The housewives are so neat that they even put lace curtains at the cellar and woodshed windows. A prodigious clanging of church bells goes on in Lunenburg every Sunday, for the place has many places of worship. From Lunenburg come some of the hardest and most skillful mariners and fishermen in the world, while the fishing fleet and the vessels built there have a wide reputation.

Of the Merovingian Period.

Paris workmen engaged in carrying out street improvements in the Boulevard St. Marcel, near the Jardin des Plantes, have apparently unearthed vestiges of a cemetery dating from the Merovingian period, on the site of a portion of what was much later known as the collegiate burial ground of St. Marcel. So far five stone coffins have been discovered, together with a large number of bones. The discoveries tend to prove that during the Merovingian period only the more important dead received the honor of burial in coffins of any kind. In one of the coffins brought to light a small quantity of coal is said to have been found, which indicates that the deceased person was one of the great ones of his time. The purpose of purifying the soul of the departed is supposed to have been reserved exclusively to leaders of the community.

"According to Hoyle."

Edmund Hoyle (1872-1769) was an English writer on whist and other card games. He was the first man to systematize the laws of whist, and for a time he supported himself by teaching the game. His famous "Short Treatise on Whist" appeared in London in 1742. Rules for other games followed, and his book of games, which included the "Short Treatise," has passed into many editions. His name has become proverbial, and "Hoyle" in common speech means a book of rules and instructions for card games, especially the famous old book edited by Hoyle himself. The common expression "according to Hoyle" means following the rules laid down in Hoyle; adhering strictly to rule in any game; following the recognized sport or enterprise; "playing the game."

The Silver String.

The strings of a violin are each of a different thickness to meet the requirements of tone and tension. The fourth string is covered with fine wire, either a white metal or real silver, hence it is often called the "silver string." Violas, violoncellos and double basses have each two covered strings, the object being to insure a sufficient gravity of tone without having too clumsy a material. The covered strings on the guitar are upon a basis of silk instead of catgut. The best gut comes from Italy, which has been famous for centuries for this product. Strings are carefully selected and graded as to size so that they shall be uniform. The larger strings for the bigger instruments are stretched on frames for three or four days. The covered strings are finished on a special lathe, which covers them with floss silk or fine silver plated copper wire, or even silver.

Shoulders Not Alike.

To the majority of persons the statement that their shoulders are not of the same height will come as a surprise, but tailors know that almost invariably the left shoulder is higher than the right. If a baby's shoulders are measured it will be found that they are exactly even. That they do not remain so is blamed upon parents, who as a rule lead their young and growing children by the left hand. This is a natural manner of leading the child, as it shields it from bumps of persons met in its walks, but the muscles and bones are thus continually raised and in the end drawn permanently out of position, although the change is so slight that it is not noticeable unless accurate measurements are taken.

Bride Behind the Veil.

A quaint marriage custom is in vogue in the Andaman Isles—the penal settlement to which "lifers" from British India are sent. There are 18,000 prisoners in the settlement, and every Saturday morning all women who wish to be married are heavily veiled and paraded around a square. Men prisoners, qualified by good conduct for the privilege of marrying, stand outside this magic circle, judging as best they can the merits of the candidates. When a man makes a selection, he is at liberty to have the object of his choice picked out, and the veil removed. No alternative to accepting the woman then remains to him. Women, on the other hand, have the option of two refusals, but the third occasion is final, one way or the other—Exchange.

Ancient English Stronghold.

Brancepeth castle is believed to have been the first fortified building in Durham. Largely modernized, the castle retains an ancient link with feudal days in its baron's hall, its armor-gallery, and collection of suits of armor. Founded before the Conquest, the castle was at one time a stronghold of the great Nevilles. It changed hands nine times within the 200 years between 1622 and 1822 when it passed into the family of the present owner by the marriage of the heiress of the Russells to the sixth Viscount Boyle. The art treasures of Brancepeth include paintings by Franz Hal's, Jordans, and Snyders, and several of Hogarth's works.

GOVERNOR MILLER
SOUNDS KEYNOTE

Vigorously Attacks the Smith Administration as Wasteful and Demoralized.

ECONOMY HIS WATCHWORD

Denounces Special Interests That Seek Favors from Government and Try to Get the Best of It—Does Not Want Their Support.

The candidates of the Republican ticket were formally notified of their nomination at Cooper Union on the evening of October third, by Senator Wadsworth, speaking on behalf of the Republican party of the state. Under the unwritten law of party government this occasion is only second in importance to the convention itself, for it is here that the party speaks to its candidates and the standard bearers of the party accept their credentials and pledge themselves to the public service. In performing this function Senator Wadsworth said, addressing Governor Miller: "For the second time your party presents you as its candidate for the governorship. Two years ago you were chosen because the party knew of your record as state comptroller, your career as a judge of the court of appeals, your eminence in the practice of your profession, your knowledge of sound business principles, your human understanding and your courage. Today we feel that same confidence and have added to it a feeling of pride such as a great party seldom enjoys."

The First Gun
In his reply Governor Miller set the pace for the "short but decisive" campaign which is to follow. He did not mince matters. He directly challenged a comparison between his own record and that of his Democratic predecessor, ex-Governor Smith, who is now leading the party of opposition in the effort to restore control at Albany to Tammany Hall. He said: "My administration was preceded by the most wasteful, the most demoralized administration in the history of the state. The governor backed up this assertion as follows: Appropriations in 1915 had reached $41,000,000. In two years they jumped to $45,000,000, an increase of $4,000,000—almost three times the entire cost of state government twenty years ago and one and a half times its cost ten years ago—an increase in two years, one and one half times as much as the total increase in seven years including the period of war inflation. That is the bald fact."

Another "bald fact" was pointed out by the governor with telling emphasis. He charged that the Smith administration was conducted for favor, in greed of the purchase of performing public services. "That was a period of great activity of special groups and of particular interests who literally swarmed about the capitol and literally marched down the hall empty handed," declared the governor. "I know that because I know the employees that I found. The entire Democratic administration submitted to the legislature its estimate of the expenses of state government for the next year. This estimate was not $115,000,000 but $200,000,000."

The Lust to Spend
"Am I justified in saying that the lust to spend had grown by what I called?" asked the governor. "Am I justified in saying that the doors of the state treasury had been thrown wide open? We had laid on the table, on the first of January, requests for appropriations involving an increase of more than $60,000,000. We had promised the people that we would stop the mounting cost of government and it looked as if we had bitten off more than we could chew."

No one since the days of Mr. Gladstone can make figures more telling and interesting than Governor Miller. In a public speech this story of the struggle to cut appropriations and keep the promise he had made to the people of the state was told with dramatic force. The fight was against interests, special and powerful interests that had held high carnival during the administration of his democratic predecessor.

The fight was also against the protests of the leader of the Democratic minority in the State Senate.

Senator Walker's Tears
With a touch of dry humor the Governor recalled these protests of Senator Walker, whom he described as a gentleman with a vivid imagination. "He filled the Senate Chamber with his lamentations," said the Governor, with a twinkle in his eye. "He shed tears for the army of state employees that were going to march down Capitol Hill at the close of the fiscal year. He shed tears for the unfortunate wards of the state for whom adequate provision had not been made, and he said that it was all false economy and that he would be back the next year with deficiency appropriations to make it up."

The Governor pointed out with pardonable pride that the Democratic habit of deficiency appropriations had been abolished under his administration and that, instead of fulfilling Senator Walker's prophetic prophecy appropriations were cut still further the next year with a total reduction for the two years of $12,000,000 in the first year and a like amount or more in the second year which the Democratic leaders had pronounced absolutely essential to the welfare of the state.

he won't break it on a windmill, because we have no appeal to make to the special interests. There is nothing in our record which holds out a promise to special interests. Those who have axes to grind, those who have favors to seek, those who are not satisfied with a square deal but want the best of it, have no use for the present administration, and we need not fool ourselves in starting out this campaign. They will not be with us. We want the support only of the mass of the people who have no axes to grind but who are vitally interested in the conduct of the state government."

In all this the Governor spoke very much in earnest and with dramatic effect. He denounced the special interests who seek favors from government and are always trying to get the best of it at public expense in unmeasured terms, but he could not resist the temptation to have a little fun at the expense of his opponents who had officially buried the tomahawk and held a lone feast over the political grave of William Randolph Hearst.

"Notice they held a lone feast," said the Governor, "and the tomahawk was buried in obedience no doubt to that Scriptural injunction which, I observe, Mr. Hearst printed at the top of his editorial page the day after the Syracuse convention, 'Love your enemies; do good to those that hate you.'"

Best Speech of Career
The Governor was in fine voice and brilliant spirits and made what is generally regarded as the best speech of his career. The efforts of his opponents to belittle his economies were overwhelmed by the citation of their own predictions that the state government would go to the dogs unless the purse strings were loosened and the appropriations increased, and he disposed of the oft repeated insinuations with regard to "special interests" by demonstrating that these very interests had been banished from Capitol Hill and had gone away empty handed. Without putting his hearers to sleep with a whirl of confused and confusing figures he made it plain that he had given the state a businesslike and economical administration and restored order where there had been extravagance, waste and demoralization.

Though interest was centered on the Governor and his speech, the occasion was of equal importance to the other candidates on the ticket and in the new Chairman of the State Committee, George K. Morris of Amsterdam, who presided and introduced the speakers.

The Other Candidates
The other candidates present included U. S. Senator William M. Calder, Col. William J. Donovan, for Lieutenant Governor; Judge Erskine C. Rogers, for Attorney General; Samuel J. Joseph, for Secretary of State; Charles L. Cade, for state engineer; Comptroller William J. Maier and State Treasurer N. Monroe Marshall.

Senator Calder, Comptroller Maier and Treasurer Marshall are now in office and are well known to the people of the state. Judge Rogers of Washington County is one of the leading lawyers in his section of the state. Mr. Cade has put the large canal on the map as Governor Miller's Superintendent of Public Works. Colonel Donovan is counsel to the state fuel administrator and has an enviable war record, and Mr. Joseph is one of the rising young men of the Bronx.

These are the nominees of the party who now face the electorate and call upon the Republicans of the state to support Governor Miller by giving him associates in his administration who will work with him and support him in his policies and in completing his work of putting the state on an efficient business basis.

Calder Predicts Return of Prosperity
In his response U. S. Senator Calder praised the work of President Harding whom he has supported loyally with voice and vote and predicted the advent of returning prosperity throughout the country.

"Already," he said, "reports are coming from all parts of the country that the tide has turned; that instead of depression, discouragement and failure there is a distinct revival of business. The farmers of the country have every prospect of disposing of their abundant harvest at a fair price. The great army of unemployed has materially decreased. Confidence has been restored, and the American working man is the first to receive the benefit of the prosperous times which are assured by restored confidence and the feeling that the Government is again on a sound business basis."

"It was here in Cooper Union where Abraham Lincoln uttered a thought which, in my opinion, is the fundamental principle of the Republican Party. Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."

Dinner to Governor Miller
Before the notification ceremonies Governor Miller was entertained at a dinner given at the Hotel Gotham. Among the guests were Senator Wadsworth, James R. Sheffield, President of the Union League Club, Nathaniel A. Elsherg, President of the National Republican Club, Irving T. Bush, President of the Chamber of Commerce; Lewis E. Florsom, President of the Merchants' Association; William H. Woodin, Fuel Administrator; Frank A. Munsey, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Henry W. Taft and Joseph H. Emery.

Rings in Wood.
While all the trees of the Temperate Region and many of those from the Tropics have growth rings, in not all cases are the contrasts in density and color great enough to show prominently in the finished material. Common examples are basswood, aspen, paper birch, tulip wood, holly, tupelo, buckeye, yellow cedars and certain of the pines, firs and spruces.

Dumdum Bullet Prohibited.
The dumdum bullet is a soft-nosed or expanding bullet so named after Dumdum arsenal, the place near Calcutta, India, where it was first made. Its use was prohibited in warfare by The Hague conference.

PINE HILL

Pine Hill, Oct. 9.—Mrs. D. T. Winter and two children of Jersey City have been spending the past few days in town, guests of Dr. Winter's mother.

Robert Eignor, who recently sold his property near the Pine Hill Lake, has purchased a handsome cottage at Roxbury, where he will move in a few days.

L. Nussbaum, who has been confined to his bed with rheumatism for some time past, is able to be about again.

Mrs. William Rignor of Lenox, Mass., is in town visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Peet.

Leslie Eignor shot three partridges and one woodcock, while out hunting one day last week. Quite a number of birds are reported to have been seen this season but the foliage is so thick that one has to find them in the open fields to shoot them.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Billings are making arrangements to spend the winter in Florida. They expect to leave Pine Hill the early part of November.

St. Peter's Holy Name Society.

St. Peter's Holy Name Society held an enthusiastic meeting on Monday evening with a large attendance. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Cornelius J. Heitzman; vice president, Edward Scherer; recording secretary, Frank Lerner; financial secretary, Henry Radeburg; treasurer, John Benkert; Edward Stock, Edward Scherer, Michael Kelsch, John Rabel and John Schwalbach were appointed an entertainment committee, and will arrange for the social hour following the meetings during the year. A vote of thanks was extended the retiring officers for the services they rendered.

BOYNTON CASE
ON NOVEMBER 4

The Poughkeepsie Star says:

The action for annulment brought by Lewis Boynton, about 70 years of age against his wife, Katherine Boynton, 19, naming the young woman's step-father, Frank Koehle, as being on terms of intimacy with the young woman, came up before Justice Joseph Morschauser, Saturday for a hearing and was adjourned until November 4, when other witnesses will be sworn.

The Boyntons live in Brooklyn but have a handsome summer estate near Port Ewen, Ulster county. The attorneys for Mrs. Boynton stated that she was ill and unable to attend court Saturday but that she would be present at some later time. They also objected to the reopening of the case as they stated they understood the motion for the annulment had been denied by the court.

This Justice Morschauser denied, stating that he had merely adjourned the case, stating that the plaintiff could come back to court at any time if he had further evidence which he wanted to submit.

In opening the case, William D. Brinler, attorney for Mr. Boynton, stated that he had some new evidence and thus he believed would be sufficient to obtain the relief they asked.

The first witness called was Charles Francis Clewley, an automobile salesman of Green's Landing, Rhode Island. He stated that in June, 1921, he was employed at Providence, R. I. He remembered the time when Koehle and a young woman whom he described as a "bleached blonde" came to the place to buy second hand cars and he sold them there. He said that Koehle introduced the young woman as his wife and when she left she invited Clewley to call on her in Brooklyn. The witness also stated that they arrived at the garage about 8:30 and that Koehle had told him they had come to Providence by the Bay State Line, the night line of steamers operating between New York and Providence.

Francis M. Cauley and John C. Orendorff, also automobile salesmen, corroborated the testimony of Clewley.

Koehle was called to the stand and when asked if he had been in Providence he stated he had and had been there with his step-daughter. He denied, however, they had gone there by night boat but had taken a train from New York city and had not arrived in Providence until about 11:30 that day.

The defense then asked that they be permitted to cross-examine the witnesses at the next hearing as they did not wish to do so at this time when the defendant was not in court. This was agreed upon and all the witnesses stated they would return at the time set by the court.

COHEN TO BUILD HOTEL AND GARAGE IN NEWBURGH.

Increased demands for hotel room and room for the temporary storing of automobiles in Newburgh since the opening of the Storm King road has caused George Cohen to revise somewhat his big building plans in Newburgh, and instead of two theaters as contemplated, he will build but one in order to have more room for hotel space and for a garage with a capacity of 200 cars. Mr. Cohen has successfully completed the financing of his plan and work will be started as soon as the state department of labor has passed on the theater project.

Miss Agnes Peterson.

A few nights ago Agnes Peterson and her escort, J. Herschel Hardy, of Chicago, were held up by bandits on a lonely road. One of the thugs attempted to kiss her, but her screams and the interference of her escort saved her. Then the bandit called her on the telephone and told her he did not mind not getting her diamond rings but that he felt keenly by the loss of the kiss, which he assured her he intended to get. As a result a police escort in being furnished her.

RULE 10 PUZZLES FOOTBALL TEAMS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 11.—Because several football teams have so far misinterpreted rule No. 10 of the new code, which was designed to change the play after touchdown, as to attempt to rush the ball over after a goal, the E. K. Hall, chairman of the rules committee, has issued the following statement:

"Rule 10 provides that a team which has made a touchdown may add one additional point to its score by successfully executing in a single play any one of the following: by a goal from field, by completion of a forward pass in the end zone or by carrying the ball across the line. 'The words 'any one' are significant and should be literally construed. Accordingly should such team attempt to kick a goal and the attempt be blocked by the defenders, the play ends then and there. 'It also made it clear that players withdrawn when the halves were finished, were to be regarded as having left the game in the first half and thus would be eligible to play in the second half at any time.

YANKEES NOT SOLD TO RICKARD AND FLOURNEY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 11.—The report that Tex Rickard and Frank Flourney had purchased the New York Yankees and would obtain the services of a new manager to replace Miller Huggins, has been laughed out of court by Colonels Ruppert and Huston, owners of the franchise.

"It will not dignify the report with a denial," was Ruppert's reply made public today. He laughed heartily at the suggestion that he was to dispose of the team and declared that Colonel Huston and himself were in baseball to stay.

Huston pointed out that with the new Yankee stadium almost completed, they would not think of parting with the ball club.

The Oriental Baseball Tour.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 11.—The team of American ball players that will tour the Orient may be forced to leave without the services of the three giants namely, George Kelly, Emil Meusel and Art Nehf. It is understood that Nehf already has declined the invitation and that Meusel will do so today. Kelly's intentions have not been made known but John McGraw's objections to extended post season tours may influence him to remain at home.

Muldoon Will Not Resign.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 11.—William Muldoon today made public denial of a report that he planned to resign as chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission. "I have no intention of resigning," he said, "never have had and do not expect to develop any thought along such lines."

WORLD RECORD PRICE FOR APPLES

Also World Record for Quality is Found in Ulster County After a Long and Thorough Search.

Milton, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Hudson river apples brought the world's record price when four barrels sold here Saturday for $138, or $34.50 a barrel. They will be exhibited at fruit shows throughout the United States this coming winter as the finest examples of their kind in point of size, contour, color, weight and style, and were selected for this purpose by one of the greatest of apple experts after an inspection trip which registered a total of 5,000 miles.

The apples are of the Delicious variety and were raised by Dudley B. Palmer, whose fruit farm is one of the show places of this section. The purchaser is Major Lloyd Stark, of Louisiana, Mo., and his 5,000 mile trip partook of a pilgrimage of devotion. His father, John Stark, discovered the original tree on a farm in Iowa more than 25 years ago. A monument was recently dedicated there in commemoration of the event, and Major Stark resolved to ascertain in what part of the United States his father's discovery had reached its apex of cultivation. He spent the summer on the quest, which took him to every part of this country where the Delicious apple is grown, both in the west and east. The four barrels which he finally bought as meeting his requirements for perfection were selected from Mr. Palmer's 12 year old orchard and graded from 48 to 72 to the bushel.

Major Stark took many photographs of the trees for his records, and paid Mr. Palmer the compliment of telling him that never in his experience had he seen so perfect a development of his father's famous apple as this orchard displayed.

The news of the sale has aroused widespread interest in this neighborhood and Mr. Palmer has been kept busy showing visitors his orchards and exhibiting to them apples similar to the ones Mr. Stark bought.

Sarazen Out Until January.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 11.—Gene Sarazen, national open golf champion and unofficial holder of the world's title, will not play again until January, he announced today. Sarazen is recovering from an operation for appendicitis at the St. John's Riverside Hospital, Yonkers, and will be sitting up in a wheel chair by the end of the week. By January, he hopes to be sufficiently recovered to take part in a tour of the Pacific coast with Jack Hutchinson, British open champion in 1921.

Miller in Watertown.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Watertown, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Governor Miller is scheduled to deliver a campaign speech in this city tonight. Tomorrow he will continue through the northern part of the state, stopping at various border towns. Speaking last night in Auburn, the governor asserted that one of the greatest pieces of welfare work created during the two years he has been in office was that of reorganizing the prison industries system.

Cars Sold by Kuhlmann.
